COOLIDGE CAMP CHOICE REVIVES “DRAFT” HOPES

1928 Strategy Seen in Wisconsin Site.

Washington, D. C., May 31.—(Special.)—President Coolidge will spend his summer vacation in the middle west—in the woods of northern Wisconsin, old time home of insurgency. And the announcement immediately was taken to mean, in many quarters, a disposition of the part of the President to yield to the demand that he again become a candidate.

Cedar Island Lodge, a picturesque estate on Brule river, about twenty-five miles southeast of Superior and not far from Ironwood and Ashland, has been selected as the spot for the summer White House.

In making announcement that the Wisconsin site had been selected, President Coolidge said he would leave Washington as soon as possible after his address before the business meeting of the government on June 11.

The President plans to accompany Mrs. Coolidge to Northampton to visit her mother prior to the trip west, so it is probable that he will not arrive in Wisconsin until just after the Kansas City convention in mid-June.

“Drafters” Take Heart.

The President’s selection of the middle west for his summer vacation at a time when the prairies are described as “fire with revolt” as a result of his veto of the McWayne-Haugen bill, has aroused a future in Washington political circles and a disposition of the part of the President to yield to the demand that he again become a candidate.

Various political motives were attributed to the decision. Many who had insisted that the President should be renominated point to his action as indicating that he expects to be the nominee and so would like to be in the middle west, where his presence will help to mollify the farmers.

Others who are convinced that the President under no circumstance will consent to renomination were of the opinion that he is seeking to be helpful both to the national ticket of the party and the regular Republicans who are trying to overrun the radical La Follette machine in Wisconsin.

Hope to Check Farm Revolt.

By spending the summer in that section, the President, through personal contacts and a vast amount of newspaper publicity, presumably would help to win support for the Republican ticket in November and prevent a bolt of farm groups, threatened if Secretary of Commerce Hoover is nominated.

The regulars in Wisconsin would be expected to benefit materially in their fight against the renomination of Senator La Follette (Rep., Wis.), and against the La Follette candidates for state offices at the primaries in that state on Sept. 4.

Still others agree that the election has no political significance and only expresses the President’s desire for a cool, secluded spot, “near to nature.”

Owned by Pierce Family.

The fishing lodge selected by the President is located on a secluded estate owned by the heirs of the late Henry Clay Pierce, millionaire oil magnate. It is a one-story building, constructed of logs, covered with white birch bark, and contains eight bedrooms, four baths, a large living room, library, and study.

The grounds immediately surrounding the lodge cover about three acres and have been beautified by careful landscaping. The altitude is estimated at about 1,000 feet above sea level. The whole property includes 4,000 acres.

The President’s island home is estimated to be about 1,300 miles from Washington and about 400 miles from Chicago. The Canadian border is only 180 miles away.

The executive office will be located in Superior, which will necessitate a 55 mile motor ride each day on the part of the President if he carries out his usual vacation practice of spending the morning hours in his car.

Former Senator Irvine Lennes of Wisconsin first called the attention of the President to the attractions of the Pierce estate. Some months ago the President made it known that he would probably spend his vacation somewhere in the east, the decision was changed unexpectedly. He has the supposed political significance.

The Associated Press learned exclusively today that G. Allan Hancock, retired capitalist of Los Angeles, is the financial backer of the flight.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service) Washington, D. C., May 31.—[Special.]—Four women and a Negro grocer are included among the 12 jurors selected today within two and one-half hours to try Robert W. The selection of the jury was hastened by application of the rules of the district Supreme court under which the qualification of the jurors is left solely to the presiding justice. Before the court adjourned the jury was not only completed but it had heard the opening statements of the opposing counsel.

Nye and Walsh to Testify. Tomorrow, the first witnesses for the government—Senators Gerald P. Nye, (Rep., N. D.), chairman of the Teapot Dome committee, and Thomas J. Walsh, (Rep., N. D.), investigator of the oil scandal investigation—will be called to the stand by District Attorney Rorer to tell how Stewart defied them when he appeared before their committee.

The jury, which Justice Frederick L. Siddons decided not to lock up, includes four clerks, a draughtsman, a construction engineer, a housekeeper, a grocer, and a grocery store manager. They were qualified for service only after Frank J. Hogan, chief of counsel for Stewart, attacked the legality of the method of their selection, insisting until he was overruled that it deprived the oil man of his right to have a voice in choosing the men who would decide his fate.

When the first dozen veniremen entered the jury box Justice Siddons employing the practice adopted by the District Supreme court just before the recent Sinclair conspiracy trial, asked all in turn if they knew Stewart or any of the counsel in the case. One of the jurors, employed in a bank which had maintained an account, was excused and three others were summarily challenged by the government.

Hogan Objects to Jury.

Four others took their places and declared they had no knowledge of the case and had never known Stewart or any of the lawyers. Hogan, who successfully defended Edward L. Doheny and Albert E. Fall, former secretary of the interior in the Fall-Doheny congressional trial, objected to the jury as tendered by the court, on the ground that the new rule was an attempt to legislate by rule of court.

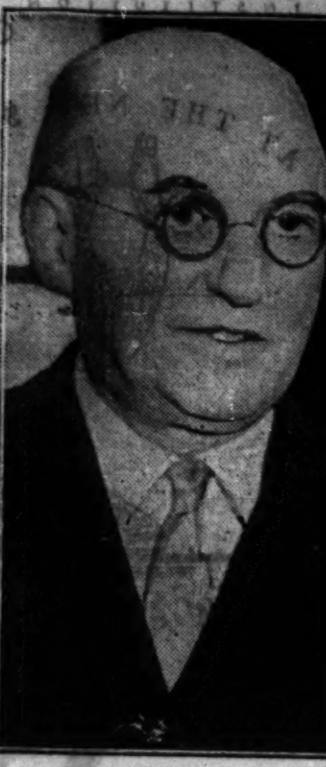

Hogan insisted first upon the right to address one question to the jury en bloc, and when that was denied he demanded the privilege to address a single question to a single juror and again asked that Stewart "in his own proper person" be allowed to examine the jurors. All of the appeals were denied, and Justice Siddons ordered the jury sworn.

In his opening statement to the jurors District Attorney Rorer sketched briefly the Teapot Dome oil lease scandal and declared it is the government's intention to link Stewart closely with Harry F. Sinclair in the Continental Trading company, Ltd., deal to show that Stewart was in contempt of the senate when he refused to answer its committee's questions.

Refuse to Tell of Profits.

The indictment is based on Stewart's refusal, when he first appeared before the committee, to tell whether he knew how the $3,080,000 profits of the Continental company had been dis-

JOURNAL SOLD, THOMASON AND
BRYAN OWNERSNew Publishers Take Over Control Today.

The Chicago Daily Journal has been sold to S. E. Thomason of Chicago and John Stewart Bryan, a publisher of Richmond, Va. The new owners will take full charge of the property today. A little over three years ago John C. Eastman, who for more than 20 years had been owner and publisher of the Journal, died. He left a will bequeathing the paper to three of his employees, W. Frank Dunn, O. L. Hall, and H. C. Dunn. To these three he gave verbal instructions that Richard J. Finnegan and Harry E. Spencer, also employees with long service records, should share in the ownership. The instructions were carried out.

Sale Complies with Wish.

It was announced that the sale to Mr. Thomason and his associate was made in compliance with an expressed wish of Mr. Eastman that any purchasers "should qualify for their stewardship of this newspaper by a record of ability."

Mr. Thomason is a native of Chicago. He attended the Englewood High school and was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1904. Two years later he received a law degree from Northwestern University. In 1909 he engaged in the practice of law in Chicago.

In 1913 he joined THE TRIBUNE as business manager. He resigned in February, 1927, and in association with Mr. Bryan purchased the Tipton, Fla., Tribune and later the Greensboro, N. C., Record. Their company also publishes the Richmond, Va., News-Leader.

Finnegan to Remain.

The consideration involved in the sale of the Journal was not made public.

Only Mr. Finnegan of the five previous owners will remain with the paper under the Thomason management. He will continue as managing editor, a position held under Mr. Eastman's regime. He and Mr. Hall had been co-editors following the death of the former owner.

Mr. Dunn, who has been president of the Journal company, and Mr. Hall, who was for many years dramatic critic, have announced their intention to leave for a trip abroad. Mr. Deuter and Mr. Spencer, it was said, will remain in the future to their private interests.

Legal matters in connection with the sale were handled for the Eastman estate by Attorney Matthias Concannon and for Mr. Thomason and his associates by Attorneys Mellen C. Martin and Dwight P. Green.

CATHOLIC PARTY IS IMPROBABLE,
DUNNE DECLARES

Former Gov. Edward F. Dunne yesterday asserted the formation of a "Catholic party" is outside the field of remote probabilities in a statement broadcast in New York by the Forum. "It is in the remote probability of the formation of a 'Catholic party,' even if Gov. Smith is elected," he testified today by Mrs. Margaret Warren, whom her husband, Vancouver, is suing.

The Catholic citizen under the federal laws is given the same rights and bears the same duties and responsibilities as the non-Catholic citizen. He is nothing more. The Catholic laity take their religion from Rome, but their politics from Washington.

"Though a constant attendant at Catholic services for about seventy years, I have never heard politics discussed from the pulpit. The Catholic episcopacy and clergy are opposed to the injection of religion into politics."

DIVORCEE CALLS
MILLIONAIRE HER
SON'S FATHER

Los Angeles, Cal., May 31.—[Special.]—James Scripps Booth Jr., Detroit millionaire and a member of the family which owns the Detroit News, is father of her son and the man who financed her Reno divorce, according to testimony today by Mrs. Margaret Warren, whom her husband, Vancouver, is suing.

Booth's wife was not only aware of the intimacy between Booth and herself but served as godmother to the child, Mrs. Warren testified.

READY TO SEEK BIDS AGAIN ON RIVER PROJECT

Rail Agreement Speeds Up Unkinking Job.

Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works, was advised yesterday by Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Eitelson that bids for the work on straightening the river between Polk and 18th streets might now be obtained because of a general agreement between the railroads whose property is involved.

The railroad companies were to exchange titles to property today, and Commissioner Wolfe planned to advertise for bids within a few days. But late yesterday afternoon he was advised that the railroad representatives would not meet until Monday.

Hangs Fire for Years.

For years this project has hung fire while the railroad representatives were negotiating over the title that had been lost and gained when the king is taken out of the river. The opening of several streets hinges on this straightening and it is part of the plan to open up new approaches to the downtown district from the south.

Some time ago bids were sought for the work, and the approximate cost was estimated at $4,000,000, but the bids had to be rejected because the Illinois commerce commission had not approved the proposed transfer of railroad property. The approval has since been given.

Ready for Calumet Harbor.

Commissioner Wolfe said he will soon be ready to negotiate for the con-suction of the Calumet harbor. An opinion is being prepared on the legality of the tax levy for this purpose and it was said the city lawyers believe the city is compelled to go ahead with it even though the money is taken out of the corporate fund until after corrective legislation is obtained.

Ad. William A. Rowan [10th], who conferred with Mr. Wolfe about the matter yesterday, said the way has now been paved to have 100th street east and west of the new bridge that has been useless since its erection because of unpaved approaches. The Commonwealth Edison company offered to pay half of the cost of the paving and the city has agreed to accept it and start the pavement soon.

BOY, 8, DROWNS IN FARM SPRING.

John Lathan Jr., 8 years old, was drowned yesterday when he fell into a spring on the farm of his grandparents, near Michigan City, Ind. The body was found about an hour after he left the farmhouse, when searchers discovered his cap near by.

The railroad companies were to exchange titles to property today, and Commissioner Wolfe planned to advertise for bids within a few days. But late yesterday afternoon he was advised that the railroad representatives would not meet until Monday.

BOARD OF REVIEW MOVES TO SOLVE TANGLE ON TAXES

A move to solve the 1928 tax problem which has involved the several taxing bodies in a legal struggle was adopted yesterday by members of the board of review.

The reviewers will start hearings in June instead of waiting until the fall, it was announced. Thus three extra months will be given the complaining taxpayers in which to seek an adjustment of assessments which they consider too high.

This action, taken by Charles V. Barrett, Edward R. Litsinger and Wiliam H. Weber, the members of the board, will be in effect a complete re-assessment of Cook county, it was pointed out. Such a reassessment is needed, all the taxing bodies have agreed, but they could not come to terms on how to proceed.

"Our complete review and revaluation with a full and free hearing of all complaints should serve the purpose sought and satisfy all elements demanding such action," Mr. Barrett said.

LITTLE GIRL'S MURDERER WILL PLEAD INSANITY

Toledo, O., May 31.—(AP)—The Lucas county grand jury will convene to-morrow morning to consider the first degree murder charge against Charles J. Hoppe, 26, a confirmed player of seven years. Dorothy Gellatowski Hoppe, 17, of Toledo, was found dead in a room in a house on May 25. Hoppe indicated his defense will be insanity.

William H. Malone, chairman of the state body, announced that a legal fight would be carried to the Supreme court to decide the question.

But this would not help the taxpayers in the meantime, property owners complained.

The commission will continue to assert its authority and test of its order may be made by the filing of a bill for mandamus against the assemblies, it was indicated.

When Hoppe was brought into court for arraignment, details of police were scattered about the room and a cordon was thrown between the prisoner and the spectators' seats.

Again the government will attempt to demonstrate that the money bags themselves were burned in the Warthen incinerator in the basement where the loot was divided.

So completely have the federal authorities welded their evidence, they indicate, that practically every move of the robbers just prior to and just after the robbery will be made clear.

Two Added at Last.

Thus it will be shown that Cleaver, at first was in the mind to attempt the robbery with a certain personnel, but that at the last minute he decided two more were necessary, and that O'Brien was one of the two taken in.

Incidentally, the confession of O'Brien, a neophyte in crime, was said to have fallen easily into the hands of the postal inspectors, while Donovan's was obtained by adroit handling. It is said the courtroom story of the manner in which Donovan, a hardened crook, was induced to make a detailed confession will reveal great cleverness on the part of certain officials. It emphatically denied any third degree methods were necessary.

It is understood both Donovan and O'Brien will take the stand and help the government prove its case against all the others involved.

ONTARIO PUTS STOP TO RUM SHIPMENTS BOUND FOR THE U. S.

Detroit, Mich., May 31.—[Special.]—All liquor export docks on the Canadian side of the Detroit river from Amherstburg to Belle River were ordered closed today by the provincial government of Ontario.

The 20 exporters served with notices to quit have done a $50,000,000 business annually, supplying rum runners who brought the beer, whisky, and other liquors to Detroit.

The exporters were ordered to close their docks, export no more liquor, and receive no further shipments from the breweries and distillers which they are representing.

Several exporters said they would refuse to obey the order on advice from their attorneys on the ground that only the federal government has the right to interfere in matters of commerce.

From these docks comes the bulk of liquor smuggled into Detroit. Much of the liquor goes to the Detroit rum trade, but a large quantity is sent to cities throughout the United States.

RAIDERS SEIZE FOUR AS LEADERS IN CLEANERS' WAR

Hunt 6 Others in Fires, Bombing.

State's attorney's detective early this morning had seized four men in a series of raids in connection with fifteen recent fires and at least one bombing as the result of recent warfare among the cleaners and dyers.

Among those seized were said to be several women who, it was stated, had been used by the warring faction in semi-dummy bundles of chemicals containing some high powered chemical into the establishments damaged.

These bundles, it was stated, would catch fire as they were placed among other garments into the drying drums in the cleaning plants.

At one west side cleaning plant

O'Malley, were said to be seeking six more in other raids.

It was understood the four men were being questioned by Assistant State's Attorneys Nicol and Miller and were said to have made admissions leading to other raids.

A group of private detectives who had been engaged in an investigation for several weeks were said to be assisting the state's attorney's men.

Among those seized were said to be several women who, it was stated, had been used by the warring faction in semi-dummy bundles of chemicals containing some high powered chemical into the establishments damaged.

These bundles, it was stated, would catch fire as they were placed among other garments into the drying drums in the cleaning plants.

At one west side cleaning plant where large quantities of the highly explosive naphtha is used in the cleaning processes, it was stated an explosion had been caused by a decoy bundle and two workmen were sent to a hospital badly burned.

According to the report, no information of this was given to the police when it happened last Monday.

There are two associations of cleaners and dyers in the city which have recently accused each other of overt acts. One of these is the Master and the other the Central cleaners and dyers' association. A third factor in the situation is a union of cleaners' and dyers' workers.

Husband, Wife Die Same Day; Buried Tomorrow

William C. Welles, 58 years old, and his wife, Clara, 41, died within a few hours of each other yesterday at their residence, 1522 Sherman avenue. Mrs. Welles was taken ill suddenly on Sunday and soon sank into a state of coma, in which she remained until she died. She never knew of the death of her husband, who passed away from heart disease a few hours before she did. They are survived by their daughters, Edna and Mrs. Walter Capela.

CHARGE 5 COUNTY BOARD MEMBERS BAK FRAUD FUND

LOBBYISTS ENGAGING HEADQUARTERS FOR HOUSTON CONVENTION

Houston, Tex., May 31.—[Special]—A score of lobbying organizations have made reservations for personnel and working headquarters here during the national Democratic convention.

The Ku Klux Klan is an exception.

It has no headquarters here, but, according to the members of the local convention committee on arrangements, a high klanzman from Washington, D. C., has rented three rooms in a downtown hotel and accommodations for twenty-five others in private residences.

The Klan, unlike the other lobbyists, will probably not be heard before the committee on resolutions.

It is expected to wave a red flag of religious intolerance before individual delegates in an undercover opposition to the nomination of Gov. Al Smith.

The Anti-Saloon league will also be here, according to the Rev. Atticus Webb of Dallas, Tex., a state officer of the organization.

The national conference of League leaders here during the convention.

The League expects to take an active hand in drafting of the plank in regard to prohibition.

Other dry lobbyists with reservations include the national temperance bureau and the board of temperance and social service of the Methodist Episcopal church south. They probably will be heard by the platform drafters.

The American farm bureau federation will have headquarters and an impressive staff.

The American Federation of Labor will have one of the strongest lobbies, it is expected, specifically on the minimum wage question and in opposing federal injunctions in labor disputes.

The National Coal association will be represented, supposedly to oppose any move to get the Democratic party to pledge itself to federal intervention in the fuel mining industry's prolonged and extensive strikes.

Absence Again Forces Delay in Voting Money.

Five county commissioners were charged yesterday with efforts to block the investigation of murders, bombings, slippings and frauds of the recent primary election.

The five men, for the second time, stayed away from a meeting of the county commissioners, for the expense of the inquiry were to be voted. As a result the constitutional requirement for emergency appropriations, which demands approval of twelve of the fifteen members of the board, could not be compiled with. All the other ten commissioners have gone on record as favoring the appropriation.

Officials See Crisis.

Officials leading the inquiry regarded the situation as a grave crisis, and Frank J. Loesch, chief prosecutor here, has appealed to the commissioners to communicate with Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom, who has been placed in general control of the inquiry by Chief Justice William V. Brothers of the Criminal court. Mr. Carlstrom notified Mr. Loesch he would leave his home in Aledo at once, and would arrive in Chicago this morning.

The five commissioners are: John Jarosowski of Cabinet City, who is a Republican candidate for county recorder, having received the nomination when Recorder Joseph Haas, the Deneen candidate, died, leaving Jarosowski, the Crowe choice, without opposition in the primary. Jarosowski's wife, Mrs. Salomea Szczepanski Jarosowski, was placed in the office of recorder upon Mr. Haas' death, through the influence of the Crowe commissioners on the county board. Jarosowski was in the city yesterday. Though given a salary of $7,500 annually by the county, Jarosowski has been busy of late coaching a ball team, the Jarosowski Tigers.

Gibson Among the Absent.

John W. Gibson, former state legislator, and leading member of the Crowe organization.

Andrew C. Metzger, another Crowe follower.

Frank Kitz of Western Springs, known as a close associate of Joseph Z. Klenow, mayor and boss of Cicero, and follower of Crowe.

Maurice F. Kavanagh, lone Democrat among the holdouts, who is com-mittee man on ethics, is reported to be in close touch with Homer Galpin, Crowe leader in the 27th ward.

All of the five were reported in the city yesterday and some of them were known to have told friends they intended to absent themselves from board meetings until the appropriation for the fraud inquiry had been hopelessly lost.

Attorney Henry A. Berger, counsel for the county board, has given an opinion holding that the board lawfully may appropriate for the expenses of the inquiry. More than that, it is the board's duty to provide for the same.

Cermak Backs Fund.

Attorney George G. Cermak, president of the Chicago Bar association, and with Anton J. Cermak, president of the county board. Mr. Cermak has bent every effort toward obtaining a favorable vote on the appropriation, as has Harry A. Newby, chairman of the finance committee.

THE PRESIDENT AT GETTYSBURG.

President Coolidge's speech at Gettysburg removed any surviving hope that Mr. Kellogg with his outlawry of war treaties was in fact dodging the coal holes of diplomacy abroad. It is evident that this administration will sign, if it can bring the other nations into agreement, and, if the senate does not balk, the United States will be on a man's commitment to some handsome language and some tall ideas.

This attitude of the government must be considered in connection with the fact that the advocates of the Boulder dam swindle bill in congress were responsible for adjournment without the passage of the agreed upon cruiser bill. This was submitted to, perforce or otherwise, by the navy men in congress and by the administration.

When we recall that President Coolidge and Secretary Wilbur asked congress for 77 ships it is inexplicable that every one in favor of this submits without protest or criticism to the loss of the fifteen cruisers, the minimum program to which the pacifists had beaten down the navy plans. If Mr. Coolidge was sincere in the recommendations which the government made after the failure of the Geneva conference he would be justified in calling congress back to pass this bill. But what seemingly is on the President's mind in this respect is merely the idea that war is about to be outlawed. It is difficult to retain confidence in the defense measures of an administration which travels in such circles.

In the speech at Gettysburg Mr. Coolidge referred with apparent satisfaction to the record of the United States in going into each of its wars without preparation for the struggle. This was less true of the revolution than of the others. If the New England militia had not been organized for just what it had to do the British would not have been invested in Boston and kept there and there might have been no command for Washington to assume. But it is true enough as to all of the wars. The evident satisfaction is that this proves the peaceable intent of the United States. It sufficiently proves it now and the failure of the navy bill is more proof if it is needed, proof also of almost criminal folly and heedlessness.

If any one finds his state of mind uplifted spiritually by this acknowledged record of unfitness for the task faced in each case, he may also reflect, if he cares to, that the blessing of this sense of righteousness has been severely paid for by the men called on to carry out the military purposes of the nation when it went to war. That is the price of the complacency and it has been paid time and again in unnecessary suffering, wounds and death.

It is questionable if Mr. Coolidge would have made a speech at Gettysburg Wednesday if the United States had been a little more sober minded in facing its possible dangers before they crashed down on it. The north had been two years trying to make its superior resources count against the south before Gettysburg was fought and its delectable state of being unprepared and unable to do this invited Lee into Pennsylvania and piled the dead up on that battlefield. The invasion was a disgrace to the north. The Pennsylvania towns paid for it and the graves and markers on the field memorialize the men who paid for it.

To find a virtue in these sacrifices uselessly demanded of good and courageous men requires considerable indifference to human life and suffering, or some rather irrational preoccupation with ideas uncheckable by facts. But some people will seek balm for their minds and other people will pay for it.

One of Mr. Kellogg's predecessors, Mr. Bryan, had an expansive scheme of peace treaties and he had signed up some thirty nations to them when war brought the ceiling of the department of state down about his ears. That experience evidently has taught no lesson and illusion has even bigger wings for a longer flight. The state of mind which had been produced in Mr. Bryan by his very efforts along this line resulted in one of the least defensible episodes in American history, and another, much worse, was narrowly averted. What did happen was that Mr. Bryan, in his zeal for peace, told the Austrian ambassador, Dumba, to inform Berlin that the Lusitania note was intended for home consumption and that the German government was to understand that it was talk talk merely for domestic ears. What was narrowly escaped, by the efforts of Garrison, Tumulty, and others, was an official addendum to the note itself instructing Gerard to tell the German foreign office this himself. Horrified officials about Mr. Wilson pulled him away from that after the instructions had been filed for transmission.

That is what illusion did to one secretary of state whose files were full of peace treaties and whose mind was taken up with the notion that the way to prevent the entrance of his country into war was to prove to the aggressor that the injured nation would stand for any additional injury rather than defend itself by force.

If there were any chance of keeping of European battlefields this attitude of the American government destroyed it. It is in such things and in such ways that the United States, neglecting all insurance against events which it may not be able to control peacefully and seeking to tie up the forces of the future with the words of the present, makes painful, destructive, and unnecessary trouble for itself.

The Europe which is responding cautiously to Mr. Kellogg's international writings gives no evidence in any realistic direction, in the relation of one state to another or of one overlord to a dependency, that it considers any other scheme of life than that which has guided its statesmen in other years. But the United States may end the negotiations by going into the dream of a new order of things, starry-eyed, empty handed and without even a barrel staff across its chest.

ROAD CONGESTION GROWS WORSE.

The congestion of the roads about Chicago on Memorial day was anticipated by those in authority. Traffic policemen were placed at all the principal crossings, but in spite of that precaution the highways were clogged. As the number of automobiles owned in Chicago and its vicinity increases the congestion will grow worse unless radical remedies are adopted.

There is nothing obscure about these remedies. The radial roads must be widened to at least 40 feet and there must be two-level crossings. Within the city there is great need for a two-level road leading west to connect with one or more of the widened north-south highways. Such a plan, as devised by Elmer Rich, president of the South Central association, was presented in THE SUN-TRIBUNE. Mr. Rich advocates double-decking Edgewater road to Des Plaines road, where motorists could turn north or south or continue westward. He points out that the city will not have to condemn any property to build this improvement. The proposal is a sensible one and deserves the support of the city council and other elected officials.

SOUTH PARK BOND PROPOSALS.

Voters of the south park district are asked by the board to approve at Monday's election three bond issues, totaling $15,500,000. The present board has shown a good deal of regard both for its opportunities and its responsibilities.

It is looking ahead and moving ahead, and yet it has not shown a disposition to add too enthusiastically to the burden of the district's taxpayers. Its proposals therefore deserve fair consideration by the voters.

They differ, it seems to us, in merit and urgency. The first in order is for $7,500,000 for the extension of the lake front development in accordance with the original plans of the park, for outer drives, islands, and lagoons from Grant park to Jackson park, and with the city's lake front ordinance of July 31, 1919, and U. S. war department permit of Feb. 20, 1920.

The project upon which Chicago is embarked for a great exposition in 1933 makes it desirable that the improvements for lake front development should not be unduly retarded and the south parks board seems to be proceeding with proper combination of enterprise and conservatism.

The proceeds of this issue, if approved upon the referendum, will construct two more of the five islands which the south shore plan projects, except part of the surfacing. All three islands may be enlarged, if future needs for aviation or other uses require.

The second bond issue is for $5,000,000 for certain improvements in the south parks and for acquiring additional small parks, in accordance with a resolution passed by the board. The Civic federation's recommendation on this issue is negative, on the ground that it is not essential at this time.

The third issue is for the completion of the stadium in Grant park, $3,000,000, by which it is expected that a better revenue can be obtained, through the completion of a hall, usable for commercial shows, etc.

The Civic federation estimates that the issuance of the total bonds asked for will increase taxes about 4 cents per $100 taxable value of property on tax bills rendered in 1929, and about 7 cents on bills rendered in 1930. The federation, however, in recommending the approval of the first and third proposed issues, properly points out that the mere fact that the issues will increase taxes should not be decisive against them, even though the general tax burden seems now irksome or burdensome. The people have been very liberal in the voting of bonds for public improvements and a good deal of their liberality has been abused by wasteful and improper expenditure. Our mood is now undoubtedly opposed to further assumption of debt, and it is largely a justified unwillingness. But it is desirable to discriminate. There are public improvements that must not be allowed to lapse or deteriorate. There are others that must be pushed vigorously. If the voters upon due consideration feel that a bond issue is required for useful public work and if they have reason to feel assured that the money will be responsibly applied to a desired improvement, they will not refuse approval. A blind and sweeping refusal to vote bonds would be wasteful and injurious. Bond issues are going to be more carefully scrutinized for a while, at least, and this is highly desirable. But well considered proposals by competent and faithful public agencies deserve fair consideration by the voters.

EASY TO SEE KING GEORGE.

(The Scranton (Pa.) Republican.)

The correspondent of a Philadelphia newspaper who is now in London tries to make a point of the fact that it is much easier to get an audience with the king of England than with the President of the United States.

Why not? We have every respect for the king of England, who seems to be a fine gentleman; and we have no exalted exaggerated notions about our own country; but the elected President of the United States is a greater man, a much more important man, and one who is much more easily sought than the hereditary King of England, who is a mere figurehead in government.

The President of the United States is the real head of his country and one of the busiest men in it. He is accessible to all who have a real reason to have a personal interview with him, but he is hidden about so that his very valuable time is not consumed by trifles or trifles to bring to his unwilling attention.

NO FOOLIN'.

An old southern planter was discussing the home with one of the colored servants. "Sam," he said, "if you die first I want you to come back and tell me what it's like over there. If I die first I'll come back and tell you what it's like."

"Dat suits me, Massa," replied the old Negro.

30 CIVIL SERVICE EMPLOYEES FIRED FROM CITY HALL

Charge Political Workers Are Kept on Pay Roll.

City hall pay roll publicity created resentment yesterday, particularly among civil service employees. Thirty civil service inspectors were discharged and sixty political appointees retained, whereupon Mike Carozza, head of the Street Cleaners union, appeared on the scene in a new rôle—head of the License Inspectors' union. There were reports that some of those whose names appeared on the pay roll had done little or no work. The merit employees said the America First and Draft Coolidge workers drew salaries without earning them, to the detriment of the others whose pay is not a reward for prompt and ward activities.

Demands for Secret Pay Rolls.

Demands were heard for full publication of the secret pay rolls—the $100 a day, (and up) "voucher men." Their collections have not yet been made known. Under the city ordinance which provides that all pay rolls be opened to public inspection.

The "experts" of Michael J. Fahey, head of the board of local improvements, were not to be found on the rolls available. Names of lawyers known to have drawn princely sums through Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Etelson were not on the regular rolls.

Not more than 4,000 Thompson pay rollers have been dropped since the April 10 prime was recorded as significant. The pay rolls were being scanned when attention was called to the large number of license inspectors.

"They were supposed to bring in a great deal of money to the city," an official explained. "That's why they were appointed. But they aren't doing it. The job has become just a pay roll snap."

Carozza Appears in Protest.

George Seiwert, superintendent of the street sweepers, who is on the permanent inspectors but failed to disclose one ward working inspector. Then came Carozza.

The civil service men, as well as the Thompsonite inspectors had been gathered into a union and Carozza was there to protest against any of his unionists, civil service or otherwise, being laid off. Acting assistant license superintendent, J. H. Wilson, who is said to draw his pay from the health department, endeavored to soothe Mr. Carozza, but without success.

A GRANDAD AGED 65 SHOOTS YOUTH OF 20 IN SHOTGUN LOVE DUEL

Atlantic City, N. J., May 31.—(Special)—Two residents of Cologne, N. J., one a grandfather of 65 and the other a youth of 20, fought a duel with shotguns on a lonely country road last night. The quarrel arose over a woman.

Charles Seiwert, the grandfather, was hit under arrest, charged with "atrocious assault and battery with intent to kill." His victim, William Busto, is in the Atlantic City hospital suffering from gunshot wounds in the abdomen and left arm.

Seiwert's version of the duel follows:

"We agreed to shoot it out with shotguns. We both went to get our guns."

"Wait until I get to my place," I told him, and when I got there I said, 'Are you ready?' He said, 'Yes.' Then I said, 'Let's go.' I pulled the trigger. Both of us shot together. Boston then shot at me five times with an automatic pistol."

After the duel the aged victim walked to Egg Harbor and surrendered.

noted on the city pay rolls, as follows:

Peter Spigola, 5501 Gladys avenue, junior electrical engineer, $150 per month; Gilbert Luzzo, 2518 Morse avenue, machinist inspector, $225 per month; Thomas Curran Jr., 1547 South Albin street, asphalt helper at #6, $60; Joseph Hitzman, 1547 Schubert street, junior electrical engineer, $150 per month; and Mrs. Irene Pease Mantonya, private construction supervisor, at $300 per month.

More of Fahey Pay Rollers.

Many well paying positions were credited to the board of local improvements. In the bureau of design for the period ended April 5, 1928, the following names and salaries appeared under the classifications of structural engineers, designers, and draftsmen:

SPEND $60,000 OF PUBLIC FUNDS ON CANDIDATES

Congressmen Frank 3 Million Letters.

(Chicago Tribune, Press Service)
Washington, D. C., May 31.—(Special)—More than $60,000 of the taxpayers' money has been spent to promote or defeat leading candidates for the Republican and Democratic presidential nominations. It was revealed today in the Senate's special campaign expenditures investigation committee.

In addition to the $65,756.22 spent by the candidates themselves or by friends in their behalf, according to an expert's analysis of the financial statements which have been submitted thus far, an almost unprecedented use of the congressional privilege to send excerpts of the Congressional Record through the mails has been resorted to by some of the candidates, the senators were told.

Delivery Free to Voters.

No fewer than 3,000,000 pieces of first class mail matter auditing and announcing one or the other of the candidates and running to 100 pages each, have been dumped into the postoffice department during the pre-convention campaign for free delivery to voters all over the country, according to Andrew Smith, veteran employee of the government printing office.

Smith, record clerk for more than half a century, testified this afternoon that 490,000 copies of an anti-Hoover speech made by Senator Burton [Rep., O.J.] were reprinted and sent into Ohio under Burton's frank during the bitter delegate fight in that state. At two cents a letter as first class matter the postoffice department lost $9,800 in that one transaction.

$15,200 for Reprint.

Hoover supporters in Ohio immediately ordered 760,000 reprints of the reply made by Representative Burton [Rep., O.J.] and they were distributed through the mails to Ohio voters under Burton's frank at a cost to the government of at least $15,200.

According to Smith, 300,000 copies of the famous Indiana speech [Rep., Senator Waldo [Dem., Mont.]] by William G. McAdoo, which was inserted in the Congressional Record were ordered and distributed to voters.

Senator Sackett [Rep., Ky.] delivered a speech in the senate lauding Hoover, and 185,000 copies of the speech were reprinted and sent through the mails under Sackett's frank at a loss in postage to the government of $2,700.

$70,000 Heflin Speeches.

Smith's report shows that during the session just closed 570,000 copies of speeches made by Senator Heflin [Dem., Ala.] attacking the Catholic church, Gov. Al Smith, and the Knights of Columbus activities in connection with Mexico and Nicaragua, have been franked through the mails. A conservative estimate of the loss to the government on Heflin's speeches is placed at $11,400.

Smith's tabulation did not include hundreds of thousands of documents franked through the mail for use in the pre-convention campaign, but which were not classified as campaign literature because they did not specifically endorse or denounce a candidate by name. Among such items not listed in Smith's compilation were the 25,000 copies of May 1927 "Hale Thompson's magazine article on 'America First and the Public Schools,' which were sent into Illinois under the frank of Senator Watson [Rep., Ind.].

Watson, at the mayor's request, it is said here, inserted the article in the Congressional Record and supplied the senate folding room with a list of Illinois citizens to whom the prints were to be sent.

Lectures, Advice, Etc.

Proceeding the testimony of Smith and the expert, Senator Heflin kept the hearing room crowd convulsed with laughter for nearly two hours as he delivered his lecture, and it was regretted at the committee which sought to learn how much he has received in the way of "honorariums" from Klan organizations for stumpings half a dozen states against Gov. Smith and the Catholic church.

William Zumbroth, general counsel for the Klan, had told the committee earlier in the day that entering a categorical denial that the organization had contributed to any candidate's campaign fund, that local Klan groups had paid Heflin from $150 to $250 with expenses for each of his many appearances.

Heflin, called principally because of his oft repeated charges in senate speeches that millions of dollars have been spent by Smith forces to obtain delegates favorable to the New York governor's candidacy, admitted he gave the committee no specific data.

COOLIDGE PICKS WISCONSIN FOR SUMMER CAPITAL

Takes Fishing Lodge
Near Superior.

land and river are nestled in a valley and bounded on all sides. There is bird life and animal life in profusion. Robins, catbirds, song sparrows, swamp wren, herons, herons, ducks, cedar wax wings, bluejays and wild canaries merge their songs. There are many partridges in the woods and grouse on the hills.

Wolves and Wildcats.

There are wolves and foxes and a few wildcats in the woods. There might still be some north Wisconsin black bear in the wildest of the tract, Mr. Lambert said.

On the mainland, connected with the lodge by a footbridge, is another large cedar building, the servants' quarters. Here also is the spacious dining room where President Coolidge will have his meals. Rev. John Taylor, of Duluth, a blind pastor, is the regular preacher.

The walls are hung with game trophies caught by the late Henry Clay Pierce. There are stuffed fish from all parts of the world on all sides. There is a museum where other trophies are displayed. Over the huge fireplace is a painting of the Pierce yacht.

There is no golf course, and there has been very little hunting done on the estate, but there are seventeen little lakes in all and each one has its share of trout.

There are no mosquitoes later in the summer, the nights are cool, and it's seldom over eighty in the day time," Mr. Lambert said.

The lodge is seven miles from the village of Brule, up a winding trail. At the village is a quaint little Congregational church, a white frame structure where it is expected the President will worship. Rev. John Taylor, of Duluth, a blind pastor, is the regular preacher.

The Pierce estate is entirely surrounded by a high wire fence, and three big gates must be passed to get to the lodge.

Zimmerman Gets Busy.

Madison, Wis., May 31.—(UPI)—Zimmerman over the decision of President Coolidge to spend the summer in Wisconsin, Gov. Fred R. Zimmerman said today that he planned to meet the President in Chicago and accompany him to the Pierce estate.

"We will immediately ask the conservation department, he said, "to put an extra game warden in the Brule section if necessary so that at present the forests and the game will be at the height of attractiveness."

He is also advising the highway commission that roads in the area will be immediately put into the best possible shape. In short, Wisconsin will do everything in its power between now and June 11 to make the Brule section perfect for its distinguished visitors."

PREPARE TRAINS FOR RETREAT OF MARSHAL CHANG

Southerners Discuss the Control of Peking.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE PRESS SERVICE, JUNIOR, May 31.—The retirement of the northern forces of Marshal Chang Tso-lin has reached the region of Peking, the capital, and trains are now suspended.

A conference of the southern forces is proceeding to ascertain who will succeed the northern capital.

An effort is being made to authorize

Gen. Yen Hsien-shan, tuan of Shantung, a southern adherent, to control

Peking, with another southern adherent,

the Christian general Feng

Wenting, occupying the protocol area.

Fall Is Imminent.

SHANGHAI, May 31.—The fall of Peking appears now to be merely a matter of days, if not hours, as the two nationalist armies converge on the northern capital along all fronts.

As reports, both Chinese and foreign, latter including those of the official Japanese agency, tell of recent defeat of Marshal Chang Wenting's troops, whose defense is only temporary at best.

The Nanking nationalist government announced this evening receipt of a telegram from Peking saying that Chang Tso-lin was handing over control of the Peking government to Gen. Chai-ju, former head of the Peking government, as a "face-saving measure."

The nationalists assert further that they have information that the northern general and head of the northern army alliance is drawing up a declaration announcing his withdrawal from Peking to Manchuria and his re turn from politics.

INQUIRY IS BEGUN
ON $1,000 BOND OF
MISSING SALTIS

Inquiry as to the status of the $1,000 bond posted by Joe Saltis, south side slater, eighteen months ago when Saltis was convicted of gunning, will be made by Deputy Police Commissioner William E. O'Connor today.

Saltis yesterday passed his twelfth day of freedom since arrival here of a U. S. Supreme court writ that set aside his conviction after many days in the Bridewell and may still be under the gunning conviction.

During the twelve days Capt. William Schaeffer of the detective bureau has searched unsuccessfully for Saltis with a capias issued by Municipal Judge John J. Lupe.

I want to look up Saltis' bond," Deputy O'Connor. "Saltis is a fugitive. It seems to me that bond should be forfeited by the courts and the $1,000 collected from the bonds."

NEW EVIDENCE IS HINTED IN McSWIGGIN CASE

A possibility that new evidence may have been uncovered concerning the coroner's inquest case was rumored yesterday. The coroner's discussion of Coroner Wolf's sudden summons to the coroner's jury, and the unusual business to meet in his office next Monday afternoon. The inquest, opened two years ago following the slaying of the police assistant state's attorney, has never been closed.

It was revealed yesterday that the police themselves had employed a detective agency some time ago to investigate the case. Coroner Wolf would not disclose a report that some new evidence might be thrown on the murder by these investigators.

The grand jury asked for by the Chicago Bar association is to be impaneled at the same time.

SERB ASSEMBLY ENDS IN ROW OVER ANTI-ITALY RIOTS

Deputies Charge Minister with Murder.

SWANSON MAKES ELECTION PLEDGE OF "NO BARGAINS"

His opponents in the primaries will be his opponents in the election—he is not the candidate of a political party, but of an outraged citizenry pitted against the forces of a criminopolitico alliance—Judge John A. Swanson, Republican candidate for state's attorney told members of the Interfraternity club at luncheon yesterday in the Congress hotel.

"My opponents," said Judge Swanson, "have no qualms of conscience about party lines. They are closely organized to perpetuate themselves in power. The business of redeeming Chicago has been only partially completed. It is up to the awakened voters who caused the popular uprising on April 10 to finish the work."

"If I am elected I will surround myself with men of ability, honesty, and integrity, who will owe allegiance only to the people without regard to the building up of a political organization. There will be no bargains with any one that will change my position."

French-British Wires Busy.

PARIS, May 31.—Balkan disorders have aroused apprehension in France, although the press is striving to minimize the importance of the Italian-Jugoslav conflict.

The wires between Qua d'Orsay and Downing street are being kept hot, and France will undertake to spread oil on Belgrade waters, London using its influence at Rome.

Haitian Minister Recalled

Washington, D. C., May 31.—(UPI)—Hannibal Price, minister of Haiti here since Feb. 10, 1926, has informed Secretary Kellogg that he has received notice from his government that his mission at Washington had come to an end. The minister gave no other explanation in his letter to his secretary, which was dated May 26. At the Haitian legation it was said today that he had departed for Haiti last Sunday.

The recall of Gen. Bodrero, Italian ambassador to Belgrade, was officially confirmed in Rome today. Gen. Bodrero was named because of his close friendship with King Alexander.

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, May 31.—The Jugoslav national assembly was the scene of a terrific uproar today when the opposition tore off the top of several boundled lists, stamped, stamped and protested against the methods of the police in suppressing the demonstrations against Italy.

"We want the minister of the interior, to impale him. He is a blood sucker, a murderer!" the opposition deputies shouted, drowning out government speakers.

Silence was restored for a few minutes when the death of Vice President Agamirovitch from inflammation of the lungs was announced.

Sitting adjourned for week.

The tumult was renewed, however, and the president suddenly adjourned the sitting for a week.

Two newspapers criticizing the action of the police were confiscated, although a vote of confidence was submitted to the national assembly.

The deputies comprising the coalition met this afternoon and endorsed the government's action, which assures the passage of the Nettuno treaty, against which the anti-Italian riots were directed.

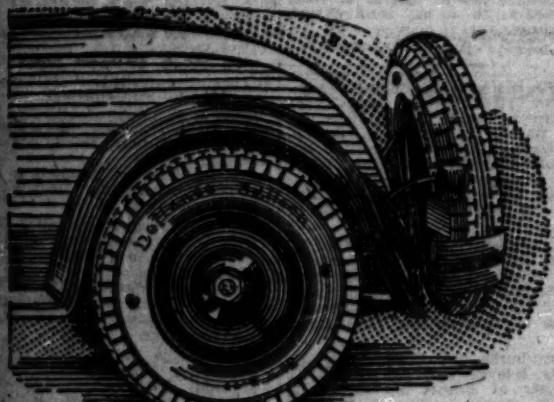

Italy is calm.

ROME, May 31.—Although heavy crowds of blackshirt militia and police continued to surround the Jugoslav legation in Piazza Borgognone, the Roman populace, under strict instruction from the government, remained calm. At several places in the provinces orderly manifestations were held, but they were discouraged by the government.

The recall of Gen. Bodrero, Italian ambassador to Belgrade, was officially confirmed in Rome today. Gen. Bodrero was named because of his close friendship with King Alexander.

UTILITIES ADMIT DONATING SHARE OF TEACHER'S PAY

Anti - Public Ownership Talks Net $250 Per.

Washington, D. C., May 31.—(UPI)—A letter indicating cooperation between the University of Colorado and the Rocky mountain committee on public utilities information in the teaching of "public utility economics" was introduced today in the federal trade commission's investigation of power utilities while George V. Lewis of Denver was testifying as executive manager of the committee.

The letter, written by Lewis as a report to John C. Parker, chairman of the cooperation with educational institutions committee of the joint committee of national utility associations. It told of an agreement with the university for joint financing of a fellowship for Hubert P. Wolfe, a Northwestern university graduate. The report said that Wolfe was making a survey of all text books used in the high schools of Colorado, to determine what inaccuracies exist with reference to public utility meetings.

Send Teachers to Conventions.
Various checks paid by the Rocky mountain committee to Wolfe were introduced, and Lewis explained that some were for "salary" and others to defray expenses of sending Wolfe to utility meetings.

Examined by Robert E. Healy, Lewis testified that his committee had paid $1,563 to Prof. W. C. Duvall of the University of Colorado for a summer course in public utility economics, recently launched by the University of Colorado through the efforts of this committee. Lewis continued, "We now have public utility company executives as members of the university faculty."

YANKEE GALAXY

STARTS TOUR OF
WEST STATIONS

Robbie Calls It Best
Team in History.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
(Chicago Tribune Free Service.)
New York, May 31.—The New York Yankees left New York this evening for their first tour of the four western stations of their league and your correspondent takes this occasion to urge the enthusiasm in these cities to attend as many of their contests because the ball club is the most powerful one that has been shaken together in the history of the baseball business.

Last year, Uncle Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn team, a national league team and an old Oriole, a characteristic outburst of snappy and snide, declared that the Yankees of 1927 were the greatest ball team that had ever existed. This was the first time that any one who had ever seen the old Orioles ever admitted that any ball club could be better than they were and John J. McGraw, who played them for them while Robinson was catching, was so shocked that he made Mr. Robinson's observation as a personal affront.

Now Greater than Ever.

But if you were to ask Mr. Robinson his opinion of the Yankees again at this time he probably would say that they were greater now than they were when he said they were mightier than the Orioles, without becoming really hysterical.

There never was another opportunity within the life of those now living to witness such devastating might as a ball club as that now on display in advance in the admission fee, were the Yankees play. For that matter, any moment may be too late because the Yankees, being absolutely sure, may suddenly start losing ball games as consistently as they have won them in the six years of the six-year-old season. That is not likely, of course, but this is the same ball club that couldn't win ball games from above class C rating in the weeks of March and the first week of April, and there is no predicting when the young men will start to cut the baseball in the field and give their bats when it isn't.

To sum up, this is no kind of pitching that can be stopped by any sort of holding back of the ball in the hand, to which crushing power with their weapons they also have pitchers who can bear down in their bats almost as heavily as the hits can. There never was such a hit as can bear down, which is another term for concentration. The Yankees will go along at a jog for a time, not doing anything tremendous, until, with a suddenness that may often be sudden resistance, two or three bats will be hit when it isn't.

Yank Hurters Concentrate.

The opposing pitcher comes in and another goes in like a man with nothing but a fair for some hypnosis walking into a cage of most eating circus stock to be with them with a similitude.

Simultaneously pitcher, Pennock, or Pipp, or old Stanley Coevelske, pitcher, a ringer, a year ago and now supposed to be no good any more, will concentrate on his part of the ball, and another ball game is on.

It seems to make no difference any more whether the regular members of the ball club are able to play or not. Anybody who puts on those team uniforms becomes a bully to be beaten by all contestants.

The young pitcher, Durocher, was added to the lineup, first when they lost, want in health, and when he was known to be relieved, and though Durocher was supposed to be a hit at all, he had been hitting around .271. That has been the way with all of them. Koenig, Combe, Gehrig are recovering with hitting power and as they become Yankees they are in line with the Yankees' team established with the arrival of Ruth.

They Terrible in Comparison.

The Yankees are so good this year that they have made the rest of the major league look terrible. But the other half clubs have been beaten by what they did to the other clubs in their own leagues.

It would be argued that the other clubs are bad, but they make the major league look good, but the major average of ability is pretty much maintained from year to year in the American League is a fact.

It is regrettable that the business men of the baseball industry are not able to get the Yankees from playing in the National to demonstrate whether or not they can happen to have the American league in a weak position.

TIFFIN CAPTURES FEATURE RACE AT BELMONT TRACK

Post.

New York, May 31.—The Bayville claiming race at one mile, the feature today at Belmont track, resulted in a victory for the stable's Tiffin, which paid 4 to 1. He was ridden by Jockey Paschino and ran the distance in 1:43.1. This was due to a strong head wind which he bucked during the early part of the race. Moesue was second and Dear Lady third. The start was poor, half the field being left at the post.

General Grant Triumphs

Louisville, Ky., May 31.—The New Liberty purse which featured this afternoon's racing at Churchill Downs, went to E. C. Brian's General Grant, with Col. Shaw, owned by W. H. Midwest, Illinois Service

New York, May 31.—Strength

continued the main body of stocks to the upswing of the Chrysler deal and reports of another importing merger in the automobile industry, bringing Jordan and Pierce-Arrow up.

Although the motor stocks featured the biggest gains, several of them, notably

Chrysler and Dodge A finished in the front column after substantial gains in the farm implement shares, merchandising stocks, railroads,

chemicals, and many of the specialty stocks were prominent on the upside, not gains ranging from fractions to points, but with a large majority of stocks under 1 point. Forty-two new stocks were up for the year or longer were established during the session.

Trade Active.

Locally because trading was concentrated in a comparatively small group of stocks the market appeared inactive

but really the day's turnover was approximately 1,750,000 shares but never reached at six per cent and there throughout the session. Apparently the speculative community was alarmed by the failure of the market to move up in the afternoon as it did on Tuesday. Month-end demand had driven the two Dodge issues up through the phase of fluctuating commodities to levels in keeping with the terms of the deal for acquisition of the two Dodge issues.

All three issues moved in erratic manner, though Dodge from the opening sought lower levels as seemed forecast by the terms of the merger.

Chrysler Dropped 2 Points.

There was sufficient realization in evidence at intervals to indicate that the development had been discounted. Chrysler at a point Dodge A dropped 1% as, with the preferred stock out at a net advance. General Motors was strong on the Chrysler-Dodge as, it makes bodies for both companies and it was reported it had signed a Packard contract.

The airplane stocks were rather quiet in strong. Radiator and a new high level was shown under heavy offerings,

stocks 21% with a net gain of 1%.

Among other stocks showing modest gains were: American International, 1%; Case Threshing, 1%;

First Peabody, 1%; Adams Express

American Bank Note, 1%; Borden

International Telephone, 1%; New York City Railways, 1%; U. S. Steel

Midland Steel preferred, 11%; Mon-

ward Ward, 1%; U. S. Cast Iron

B. & W. and Utility Power and Light.

New York Central focused the interest in the railroad group, advancing

1% to 10%. Texas and Pacific jumped

1% to 10%.

Lake CARGO COAL RATE ROW TO BE SENT TO THE I. C. C.

Washington, D. C., May 31.—(AP)—

Interest contests over the lake cargo rates were brought to a standstill when coal miners operators announced protests to protest to the Interstate commerce commission's arbitary reduction in rates allowed to northern railroads to Ohio and Pennsylvania coal producers.

Following a recent federal court decision, Radiator and a new high level was shown under heavy offerings,

stocks 21% with a net gain of 1%.

Among other stocks showing modest gains were: American International, 1%; Case Threshing, 1%;

terest in the railroad group, advancing

NEW YORK BANKS REDUCE LOANS TO STOCK TRADERS

BY O. C. MATHER.

In spite of the rapid recovery of the stock market from the sharp decline of last week the weekly report on brokers' loans shows only a moderate increase. Such loans on Tuesday totaled $4,689,488,000, according to the report issued last night. This marked a record for the day. The total for the week and an increase of $1,375,000 in the last week and an increase of $1,407,575,000 over a year ago.

One noteworthy feature of the report is that the banks withdrew credit from the stock market in spite of the relatively high interest rate, which has been 6 to 6½ per cent for call loans. The New York banks reduced their own loans by $25,152,000 and loans for the account of out-of-town banks increased only $115,000. On the other hand, corporations and other lenders increased their loans by $40,323,000.

Reserve Loans Upward.

The weekly report of the federal reserve system, also issued last night, reflects the demand for credit in connection with the June 1 settlements, including almost $500,000,000 in interest and dividend payments. Loans expanded $12,190,000, while open market bills bought declined $26,574,000. The banks continued to sell government securities in line with their policy of absorbing credit and thus tightening money rates in an effort to curb speculation. The item declined $11,055,000.

Total reserves declined $27,455,000 and total reserves declined $27,455,000 and total reserves declined $27,455,000. Deposits increased $13,255,000. The ratio of reserves to liabilities fell to 8.3 from 7.0 per cent a week ago.

The New York bank made no change in its 4½ per cent rediscount rate, loans increased $15,165,000, but bills bought declined $5,743,000. Deposits reduced $18,052,000. The reserve ratio now stands at 7.1, compared with 7.5 per cent a week ago.

New York Central Mailed.

The New York Central railroad yesterday announced the long expected melon. The directors voted to offer $42,153,300 additional stock at par, or $100, to stockholders of record June 15. The offer of one new share for each ten shares held. Payment may be made in full or in two equal installments on Aug. 29, and Dec. 14.

The value of the subscription privilege to the stockholders aggregates more than $2,300,000. The closing market price of New York Central stock yesterday was 134½, at which price the value of the subscription privilege on each present stock figures approximately $7.65. There are 4,215,540 shares outstanding. The proceeds from the new stock will be used in paying off $50,000,000 per cent bonds of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad when they mature on Sept. 1.

News of Trade Mixed.

News of trade and industry was mixed yesterday. May sales of Montgomery Ward & Co., the Chicago mail order house, set a new record for that month, being $15,371,350, an increase of 14.46 per cent over a year ago. Sales for the five months this year totaled $77,588,665, an increase of 2.45 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

Seasonal curtailment in the steel industry continued. Operations of the U. S. Steel corporation this week have declined to 81½ per cent of capacity, compared with around 85½ per cent a year ago. Average for the whole industry now is about 79 per cent, compared with 82 last week and 84½ a fortnight ago.

Automobile production for May will show only a slight decline from the high level of March and April, according to Automotive Industries. Retail sales last month were generally satisfactory.

FRIDAY, JUNE 1, 1928.

Three Generations
By WARWICK DEEPING

SYNTHES.

Old John Pybus, formerly a bookbinder in London and later in Winterbourne, is serving a pension as an inn at Castle Graven when his son, Cource, sees him there. He has been separated from both his sons since the beginning of the war and they have lost track of each other. Cource has to tell his brother, Pybus, that he has seen his father. Pybus's son, Lance Pybus, had believed his grandfather dead, but he looks him up at the Saxon's Inn. Lance, however, without telling his parents of the meeting. When Lance finished at Cambridge he went to London and, after gaining his father's reluctant consent and a small allowance, devoted himself to writing. In London Lance meets and is attracted to Olive Gadsden, a friend of old Pybus, who takes care of a blind brother.

INSTALLMENT XLII.
SERIOUS PROBLEMS.

Lance was not happy. He was smoking too much, and his work was indifferently done. Also, he was conscious of his indifference, and was both bothered and baffled by it, yet nothing he could do seemed able to mend it. He had lost both his touch and vision.

Also, in six weeks' time Richmond was expecting to read the novel. Also, he was beginning to wonder whether the Venerable had not been in the dallying those five chapters.

Also, at the end of October the check from Windover would cease to arrive. Problems, and very serious problems; but the essential problem was his intimate self and its sex escapades and its merging into sense impressions that were symbolized by Olive Gadsden's mouth. He was not happy about that, and he was not happy about himself. If words only conceal the truth, then romanticism and realism are but terms invented for the justification of a physical tendency. There is no romance and no realism; nothing but own reactions and the sublimation of our own sensations.

Yet during those August days Lance was made to remember his grandfather's mysticism. It hung there like the light beyond the hills; it was the other world, that eternally other world, the bourns of our inmost urges, the sense of the thing that is somehow better than the thing of the moment. There was nothing mystical in Old Pybus. He had reclined with her little pagan feast, then had halved the apple and emblazed the same cup.

Unable to write, afraid of the pen and the paper, he would sit at his desk at night with the lights out, thinking. His thoughts seemed to him to be down those restless streets. Had this city infected him with its inmost downlessness? Its faces seemed to have changed, or was it that he saw differently? The strained, set faces of some of the bus drivers, the faces of hungry and worried women! What was the matter with him? Why the hell couldn't he get life down on paper as he had been getting it three months ago? Yes, but he and Olive had done only what thousands of people did, an supremely natural thing. Was he becoming emotionally self-conscious, unusually difficult? He knew lots of men who were boisterous and exultant in the successful swelling of their youth. They told a tale, laughed, and passed on. What was the matter with him?

Running out on one of these evenings of ineffectual restlessness, he felt he must talk to somebody, a man, a man of his own age. There was only he had not seen Kit Sorrell for some months. The urge was instant.

"My job keeps you bolted down."

He got on to a bus and went eastward, and, getting off at Kings Cross, cut through Bloomsbury. He found himself on Sorrell's doorstep looking at the London eyes of the Bloomsbury square and hearing voices. Girls were playing tennis.

Up his head—suddenly—came the word "marriage." It shocked him; it brought with it a kind of frightened silence. Unless you were a cad, a mere animal, you married a girl when she had given you intimate and unforgettable moments.

The door opened. He was aware of a face, plain and tired.

"Is Mr. Sorrell in?"

"Yes, Mr. Sorrell was in."

He found Kit at work, sitting at a table by the window; the same old Kit, a little slower of speech and more observant of men and of things.

"Old chap—clear me out if I'm in the way."

"No, sit down. I always a little ahead."

"You always—you were. No distractions."

"I don't know," said Kit, going to the mantelpiece for a pipe.

"Some of Pentreath?"

"Young Sorrell had a tobacco tin."

"Yes—some. He'd had rather a rotten time, poor old thing. Got married."

"Not turned out—O, well, you know what."

"No."

"The very last chap you'd expect."

"For old Pent! What on earth! You are not out on the marriage market."

"A mug's game at my age," said Sorrell, applying a match to the tobacco pipe.

Lance sat and stared. If he had come to Kit for inward counsel, he could have obtained it more aptly and without less prejudice, for Christopher had become a sound beggar, even in his rowing. There was nothing of the "rupper" about young Sorrell. But just how did Kit manage? And when Lance happened to notice that the lower sash of the window was closed, and that a muslin blind screened it.

"You work with your window down, old man?"

"I like mine up."

"I dare say. Distractions, you know. Girls playing tennis out there. And myself watching them."

Lance got up and, lifting the edge of the muslin blind, looked out of the window. Your job keeps you bolted down. O, damn sex, my lad, damn it!"

"I wish that, too, Pyble, but one's got to put up with it. Apparently, he's not the only one."

"I don't believe it," said Lance, with sudden passion. "The alternative always a tody, surely?"

"That's true. But for me, old lad, nothing or everything. O, yes, there are women who make you feel humble."

It was Sir Yea and Nay for a week; and then, because his indecision was getting the better of him, Lance had to rush headlong upon finality. Olive and he set out to spend a week-end on the river, but the pagan naturalism had gone from the two old men and two young moderns looked at each other with sophisticated self-satisfaction.

The weather was English and threatening, and Lance had read the chapters of "Rust" into his suitcase, and he took with him to reinforce the return spirit of mysticism.

"How deeply do you see me into it? What am I—the man—to you?"

"I'm not the man to be in her than that, or was she but the product of physical expression?"

His heart was leaden; so was the water; and from the other end of the punt of his boat, his eyes watching him. They made him think of two eyes looking through the slits in a mask. The beech woods on the hills had him through the hills, like the foreheads of solemn city fathers frowning over a generation.

He was teasing and flippant.

"You are so bored, dearie."

"You are bored, Olive. And I'm not dearie."

"You hardly call everybody dearie."

"Let her, by all means. It's going to rain like blazes."

"A little green tent for two. I wonder if the ukulele boy will come?"

"Chinese lanterns should be a washout."

GASOLINE ALLEY—THE FIRST THING PHYLLIS LEARNED

Women Are Told
Alcohol Is Big
Campaign Issue

Two Days of Prayer for Right Nominee Urged.

San Antonio, Tex., May 31.—(AP)—Warning delegates to the convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs to "trust no candidate labeled wet." Mrs. Jesse E. Nicholson, president of the National Women's Democratic Law Enforcement Clubs of Maryland, told the law enforcement banquet of the federation here tonight that the issue in the coming presidential campaign is alcohol.

She asked the federation to pledge its support to "a man whose very name will be a guarantee that the constitution will not be nullified."

"The women must not allow themselves to be betrayed or trapped by such high sounding phrases as state's rights," she declared. "Congressmen and all officers opposed to the eighteenth amendment should be defeated. No man out of sympathy with the prohibition law should be nominated or elected as President of the United States."

"There must be no political lines with the women when their very homes, their church, even their lives are threatened. We are facing in this election the greatest domestic crisis since the world war. We must go from this convention and rally our forces for a great battle."

Mrs. Nicholson recommended that women select June 10 and June 24 as days on which they will gather in their churches to pray that the right candidate will be nominated and elected.

Earlier in the day the convention, which officials of the federation have sought to keep clear of national politics, was invaded by anti-Smidt pamphlets. One contained a letter from former Senator Owen of Oklahoma attacking Tammany and the other was an issue of "The Woman Voter," edited by Mrs. Nicholson, which contained articles unfavorable to the candidacy of Gov. Smith of New York.

Adams street, housewife—I am doing housework. I love a large house, such as we have, but I don't think I would care to do housework in a little kitchenette apart.

Like housework, what little I have married long, but out there I had a little experience with housekeeping and it was interesting. In the cooking I only failed on one meal.

Miss Bernice De Feo, 2139 West Adams street, telephone supervisor—O, I like my own house. I like the chores one has to do; I like to clean and shine the windows. I like all of it because it makes me happy.

And I like the comments of others saying, "How nice you keep the place."

Miss Margery Powell, 57 Gould avenue, Malden, Mass., stenographer—I detect office work fairly loathe it at times, though it is possible there are certain lines that are worth one's while. In the cooking I only failed on one meal.

If Judges Hesitate to Send Boys Away, Fathers Should, Too
My Son's Boys

Have you read much about the work of the judges in our children's courts? It is a wonderful work they do and most of them are keen, kind men with an understanding of the difficulties that confront the boys and girls who appear before them.

Most of them possess long vision—something without which they might do a much worse job. Their eyes are on the direction—on which is going to ultimately be the best thing, the most constructive treatment for the boy or girl who is brought before them. And severity and punishment are not resorted to except when other measures fail.

One of the ideas among others, in the establishment of the children's court is to save children from the atmosphere of the ordinary court—to save them from the stigma of arrest and from association with criminals. Another of the ideas is that the commitment of any boy or girl to a corrective institution. Every effort is made, with the cooperation of parents, probation officers and big brothers and sisters to straighten out the children without resorting to this drastic measure.

And why? For several reasons. One is that a stigma attaches to a boy or girl who has been in an institution of this sort—in his own mind and that of the world at large. And another, and equally important, is that he or she must associate there with other boys or girls who can and will, sad to say, teach him worse and more than he already knows.

So, if a judge with no personal interest, can refrain from sending a boy to an institution for correction, how much less should a father consider such a thing for a moment. He does not realize what such a course means or he would not even entertain the thought, as one father who writes me is doing.

He is having trouble with his boy, and has tried everything and failed, let him start and try everything over again. Let him think of something new to try. Let him try to line the boy up alongside of him. Let him say, "Come, son, let's work this out together—I'm on your side. What can we do about it? What—just let us get you straightened out."

Let him cajole, talk, act, reward and punish if need be—but don't send a boy of 10 or 11 away. Let him have kindness and courage and patience without end. Let him ask the help of men more experienced than he with—Big Brothers, Scout masters, wise principals of schools.

Let him have firmness and patience without end—and let him always make his boy feel that it is with him, not against him. Let him give his boy something to think about beside his conduct—something outside himself—other interests. It can be done.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

The Mints.

It was made of nation wide import, as news, some years ago, that the passing of the famous Kentucky drink did not hurt the Michigan mint industry. The fact is that today the mint is used in more ways, perhaps, than it ever was before. Although it has been used since Rome on her throne of beauty ruled the world. I have read myself, in one old Roman poet's work, that mint was an antidote for satiety. And the after dinner mint seems to be a survival of that 2,000 year old idea.

As to mint candies, are they not legion, and perhaps more so ever since candies were made? At any rate, while I went scouring for varieties recently I was surprised. There were, in abundance, the old-fashioned water mints, which old ladies used to carry in their pockets to church for comfort and old gentlemen for to win the love of little children. There was also what was called the "old-fashioned mint," or the old "loosener." And, again, I was surprised, for I am inclined to believe that the water mint is older fashioned. And there were "spearmint leaves," something of the jujube sort, and a delight in their dark greenness.

The peppermint-candy sticks have been replaced by the lollipop, seemingly, but once last summer, at a great picnic in a park, saw a group of children who had learned to twist them, in imitation of older children, in such a way as they sucked their sweethearts that they got long pointed cones of which they were inordinately proud.

Twenty years ago six or seven sticks of peppermint candy were soaked up in a quart of milk, or enough to flavor it well, and this was frozen. Fresh mint leaves are today used with fruits and are best if washed and while wet rolled in sugar, though in some cases they are chopped or dried and powdered to sprinkle over oranges cut up. But perhaps they are best of all when combined with chopped ice, fruit and a syrup.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each child-like saying printed. The story told must have been written in my handwriting or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

My small niece, Lillian, aged 6, has an appetite that is the despair of her mother. It seems that Lillian just never can get enough to eat.

At dinner the other evening her sister, Evelyn, aged 12, was served the larger piece of cake for dessert. Lillian, ever watchful of food and its distribution, concentrated at once on the small piece given her.

"But, dear," soothed her mother, "Evelyn is a bigger girl than you are."

"Yes," replied Lillian, "and she always will be the biggest, too, if you keep on giving her the most cake!"

V. L. E.

Little Ruth had been taken to California on a visit. On one of the many sight-seeing trips she was taken to see the alligators. Her mother noticed her inspecting them closely, and was amazed when the child said seriously, "Mother, just when on the alligator do the pears grow?" R. N.

Calm, Placid, Yet Busy
Life in Lake Forest
Intriguing to Visitor

BY THALIA

The pursuit of social news and background carried me to Lake Forest the other afternoon, where I was regaled with the peaceful beauty of that smart suburb, and with the equally peaceful, leisurely, and unpurposeful life of the inhabitants. They have scores of interests, and yet they have time for informal and friendly intercourse with their associates in those interests.

The women pay great attention to their gardens, and in that connection, most of them help with the activities of the Garden club which sponsors the Sunday open gardens, the Saturday morning flower market, and the flower show this month. They concern themselves with the diversions of their children. [Mrs. Billy Mitchell Blair has two cherubs, Bobby and Bill, over the polo field that adjoins for a ride on White Rock, which the older boys ride in the polo match, and returned them, presumably to their nurse's care and came back to the game.]

They play tennis as we drove out of the Convention grounds we saw Mr. and Mrs. James Douglas Jr., Ruth and another youth evidently returning from a strenuous game of tennis, looking dishevelled but happy and soft, and they watch the games, which are being conducted much more systematically than ever before, and they ride. They are interested in their own particular civic projects and problems, and they take active parts in any movement for the improvement of the town. And, yet, they never seem to be in a hurry. Convention's new clubhouse is almost complete. I should say from its appearance. It has three dining rooms and looks about three times the size of the old club. It is red brick and is situated picturesquely over a large lawn. Nobody seems to know when it will be ready.

Miss Niblock told me that he and Mrs. Niblock are going to have their children's horse show again on the morning of the Fourth of July and that there will be more children than ever this time. The youngsters love it, and the grownups have a grand time, too. Niblock is one of the leading spirits of the Lake Forest colony and is about the most popular.

Mrs. Charles A. Eliot of Winnetka, who is a friend of herself and who has two daughters, Mrs. Bob Bennett and Mrs. H. Austin Purdie, who were married before they deserted sport for domesticity—they always used to win all the races in the Fourth of July contests on the Winnetka village green, too—has been elected president of the new Dundee Country club, and the other officers installed at the first meeting of the charter members this week are Mrs. Mrs. Watson, the president; Mrs. Mrs. H. H. Hetherington, first vice-president; Mrs. Raymond M. Ashcraft, second vice-president; Mrs. John Douglas, Mrs. Cyril J. Morris, Mrs. Ernestine Pearce, and Mrs. W. W. Willis, directors. Mrs. Watson invited the group to hold its June meeting in her Winnetka garage.

The bridge that the art department of the Woman's Club of Highland Park is to give this afternoon is the third event we have arranged to take place at the residence of the Raymond A. Stevensons in Highland Park. Today's party is for the benefit of the art fund to buy paintings for the club building.

Friends of Rear Admiral and Mrs. W. A. Moffett of Washington, D. C., who were most popular during their stay at Great Lakes, will be interested to know that their son, Midshipman H. Moffett, has been presented to the naval academy class at Annapolis by the midshipman "who has contributed most of his officerlike qualities and positive character to the development of naval spirit, and loyalty within the regiment."

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker of 1100 Lake Shore drive call all the students to be in Europe for the summer. Their daughter, Miss Mary Meeker, and their son, Arthur Jr., are among the many of each of them following their own particular paths. Mr. Meeker told me before he went that he was planning to do a great deal of writing, because he found the continental atmosphere more conducive to accomplishment than Chicago's busy whirl. He said he planned to get going on a new book, even before his one, "American Beauty," comes out.

Mr. and Mrs. Billings McArthur announced the birth of a son on May 29 at the Michael Reese hospital. Mrs. McArthur and Mrs. Jane Naugle were her midwives.

Mr. Howard Van Doren Shaw of Lake View avenue departs to Europe for Pittsfield, Mass., to join his daughter, Miss Theodore Shaw of Miss Hall's school. They are to be in June 9 to England. Mrs. Fred A. Britton was one of the home.

The newly appointed naval attaché of the American embassy in London, Capt. William R. Galbraith, and Mrs. Galbraith were guests at dinner tonight of Mrs. James Carroll Fraser.

The chairman of the board of directors of the United States chamber of commerce and Mrs. Joseph H. Deneen of Chicago went to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, with their family tomorrow night or Saturday morning. They will remain here over the weekend and depart for their home Monday.

Mrs. Alexander Kirk of Georgetown gave a luncheon today in her home.

Mrs. Fred A. Britton was one of the home.

Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis, wife of the former senator from Illinois, accompanied by Miss Alice Lewis, a friend of Chicago who has returned from a two months' trip abroad, are spending a few days at the Mayflower hotel before returning to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Miller of Chicago and Miss Lucy Miller have arrived at the Carleton for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Revel of the Drake, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Loring R. Coopers of N. Y., and the Coopers' small titled heiress daughter were among the passengers who sailed yesterday aboard the Aquitania for a tour of several weeks in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Waller of Lake Shore street are being congratulated over the birth of a son on June 10 at the Michael Reese hospital. Mr. Waller is the former Miss Sarah Waller, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Waller.

The annual meeting of the season of Help will be held this afternoon at the Lincoln park rectory.

The organization is a member of the Chicago Council of Social Agencies and does social work with girls and women among the Negroes of Chicago.

Doris Teaches Young Husband the A B Cs of Wife Psychology

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I need advice. We have been married three years. We are happy, and I certainly would not give my wife up for the world. But she has a peculiar way of complaining. Not outright, but with that nagging tone only a woman can use. I am sure she does not realize the effect on me."

"O, I know she hates the sight of food tonight, or, 'Gone is a single thing to make tonight.' You won't read too long, dear, will you?"

"I wonder why I'm so tired. 'I wonder what I'm going to wear tonight.'

And so on and so forth."

"Still, I can't say she is complaining.

When I do, the usual comeback is:

"I'm not complaining. I'm satisfied with everything." And, of course, the customary tears. Result, I'm the brute. She gets 'most' what she wants, which makes it still more complicated—Jim."

A vacation, James, is the only recommendation I have to make to you. You must be getting a bit edgy as to nerves if you can magnify those slight remarks into grievances, really.

Just wait till you know what it is to be naged!

That wife of yours just wants a bit of babbling, I take it. A little bit more attention. You know how it is with women. Or, I guess you don't, and that's the trouble. Being a man and in the early stages of matrimonial training, you can be excused. Only do not let yourself take those idle comments as harbinger of discontent.

When she hints she's weary she may be only counting a bit of petting. And when she wonders what she's going to wear tonight she's just trying to find out what you'd like to see her in. It doesn't necessarily mean she hasn't a thing to wear, you know. And, no doubt, when she says she hates the sight of food tonight she just wants you to tell her she must just wait till you know what it is to be naged.

They're really very easy to handle. That's all, if you only get onto the system. But if you're going to start quarrelling with such trifling comments you will become more and more difficult, just as other women have been known to become. They resent being "misunderstood." That's why the tears. I'll admit, as when they are pretty darn difficult to understand. But when in doubt put them. Don't get cross at them."
